Jaz's Movie Review by Jaz

Inside Out is an amazing movie starring Amy Poehler. It's about what goes on inside of a girl named Riley's head. It shows all her emotions as different characters who control her memories. Joy, sadness, anger, fear, and disgust go on tons of adventures to try to find a special memory. They meet tons of new people and go on a rollercoaster of emotions. It's a 10/10 movie that you should totally watch.

Cookies vs. Brownies by Joza & William

Welcome back VS fans!! Last week's VS was Hamburgers VS Hotdogs, and Hamburgers won. This week's VS is... COOKIES -VS- BROWNIES!!

WILLIAM'S ARGUMENT:

Hey people! I'm back with better stuff to write about today so let's get to it! First off brownies are the best treat out there. They have a tasty flavour for when you bite into their chocolatey abyss of tasteness. Lets not forget that you can put different things in them like sprinkles, chocolate chips, or perhaps even gummies! Brownies are easy to make (sort of) and you can make them in the dozens if you have the right amount of batter. Plus making brownies is more exciting than making cookies! They are great family times but with cookies you just put them in the oven! There are also extra chips, regular and thin, and thick! So yeah, that's a lot (but not all) of the reasons you should have brownies for your next treat, not cookies!

JOZA'S ARGUMENT:

Okay, let's get straight to the point. Cookies are way better than brownies. This is because they taste better and they have more variety.

Cookies are better than brownies because they taste much better. For example, a brownie is just going to be sweet and chocolatey, while cookies can taste sweet, sour, salty, cinnamonony, or even spicy if you want. This shows that cookies are better than brownies due to the variety of flavors that cookies can have. Therefore cookies are better than brownies since they taste much better.

Another reason that cookies are better than brownies is that they have way more types and variety. Brownies are only chocolate, while cookies are the better choice since they can have chocolate, peanut butter or even pretzels. This shows that cookies are better than brownies because if someone doesn't like chocolate, they won't eat a brownie, while you can have whatever you want on a cookie. Therefore, cookies are way better than brownies due to the amount of variety.

That is why cookies are better than brownies.

*Who do you think won this week's VS? Let's vote!
Annnnnnd the crowd has voted 10-5 in favor of cookies!! They are the winners!!! See you next week on a new article of VS!*

Fall Fashion Advice

by That Gurl Lay Lay & Young Queen Bee

Aye yo fashion time!!!! To all the people at Beaver it is time to break into fall! Yeah, I am talking about pumpkin spice!!!

Shoes!

Platform boots! Platform boots are one of the teen essentials when it comes to fall. You can bring out the big boots or just simply small cropped ones. Just boots in general are very trendy for the fall season. I also mean Doc Martens + Stuart Weitzmens. Super trendy! One thing that you shouldn't mistake for fashion boots is SNOW BOOTS. PLS DON'T DO THAT. Though they can be fashionable, that's for winter and we will be talking about that L A T E R..... Other trendy shoes are the new Nike Air Force Ones! And the standard Adidas. You can buy them now at Target, Bloomingdales, the Mall, and the amazing world of online shopping!!

SHIRTS!!

For shirts it can be big sweatshirts. This is a darker color season. Right now shirts are not as trendy as T-shirts. Right now the color contrasts are brown, dark red, black, purple, and for Halloween black and orange outfits are cute. The October look for T's is this cursive font in black or brown with pumpkins, skeletons, graves, trees and just spooky style. Or you could wear a white yarn long sleeve shirt for warmth.

5 super cool things you totally need!!

-chokers! It's halloween season y'all! Bring out the chokers!!

- leather jacket / fake fur cropped jackets

-SKIRTS all skirts!!

-colorful blouses (my preference big size)

-colorful tights (with or without some rips) with skirts or shorts

- cute socks. My fav are simpsons socks, spongebob socks and gravity falls socks!! <3

PANTS AND SKIRTS

Ok let's talk bottoms!! We can wear skirts and tights, shorts, and leggings.

Skirts! My absolute fav skirts have to be short plaid skirts! This season's skirts are orange, red and yellow plaid!! I wear them as part of emo outfits. Plaid skirts with a cute spaghetti top and a big black GAP jacket is my style! Also black skirts are so cute! My fav style is the short skirts!!

Tights! There are many kinds of tights and we will only need gold, black, white tights. Leggings! Okay so last year at my school black leggings were so trendy and fun that I think we should add it back! Black leggings with flannel shirts ARE SOOO CUTE!!!! Also young queen bee wants U to wear thick leggings so your butt doesn't show! THX!! Also open flannel shirts with crop tops are so cute with ripped jeans, leggings and maybe even shorts!! Shorts! Yes shorts are still in season but it's getting cold so you can wear them but check the weather first. You can wear them with thin tights or leggings underneath to add to the outfit for the fall season.

FASHION ADVICE !!

For girls who don't usually wear ripped jeans then I would advise to be gentle with them. Today I wore ripped jeans and the strings fell apart!! So don't pull on them for the sake of all things fashion. I usually don't wear ripped jeans so this was a new thing for me. Big sweatshirts are also super fun!! But one thing you want to note is to not wear the same thing every day. Really try to mix it up. Like sometimes you could wear a pretty sundress and other times you could wear a tom boy outfit with baggy jeans or sweatpants with a big T or a big sweatshirt. Or you could put on a tight noodle strap tank top which is SUPER CUTE!!! <3 Because trust me girls you definitely don't want to look like you're trying too hard. Because people will think you're just a try hard follower that doesn't have a mind of your own. Find your own style that's really you with these fashion tips. Now go out there and get you some fall clothing to break in the cool new year!! Thx for reading!!!! <3

Jeff Probst Fanpage 1 by JeffFan444

Jeff Probst is amazing. If you don't know who he is, he is the host of the Emmy award winning tv series Survivor. But there are many things you might not know about Jeff. So I'm here to tell you all about him, the good, the bad, and the secret.

Update- But first, here is the weekly survivor update. The 41 season of Survivor, the Dawn of a New Era, will air September 22 and of course Jeff will be hosting. This survivor season is shorter, due to covid. But this season looks so good, and so does the cast! I will be writing weekly updates on the new season, the fights, the tears, and even the injuries. (Let's be honest, those are so fun to watch)!

Weekly Jeff Moment- Jeff may seem perfect on tv, but trust me, he isn't. Jeff has had some weird moments- and this one is amazing. Once, in the middle of filming a survivor season, a scorpion crawled up Jeff's boot and stung him. In a panic to make it stop hurting, Jeff went to a fence and peed on his cut. But the fence where Jeff went was an electric fence, and it zapped Jeff.

Jeff's Dark Secret- You may think Jeff is amazing, but after this, you will be shocked. Before Jeff was married- he has had 2 or 3 wives- he had a few girlfriends, but one of his girlfriends was different from the rest. Jeff is the host of survivor. Julie Catherine Berry was just a normal survivor player. She made the merge, but as soon as she made the final five, she got voted out. After her season, Jeff announced something. They were dating. Jeff and Julie dated for a full 3 years before breaking up. What would have happened if they got married? All of this just seems a little off.

Fun Jeff fact!- Jeff can do anything! He even officiates weddings! (Jeff can you do mine please?)

Jeff picture of the week-

Jeff with Phil, the host of the Amazing Race.

Next time on survivor: Does Jeff have favorites? And What happened with Jeff and the letter to Spencer?

Beaver Sports Update, Episode #002 by Charlie & Keola

NFL

The second week of the NFL started on thursday with the Washington Football Team (1-1) beating the New York Giants (0-2) 30-29 with a game winning field goal.

The first game on sunday had the Chicago Bears (1-1) beating the Cincinnati Bengals (1-1) 20-17

Then the Cleveland Brown (1-1) won against the Houston Texans (1-1) 31-21

After that the Los Angeles Rams (2-0) won against the Indianapolis Colts (0-2) 27-24

In the next game the Buffalo Bills (1-1) destroyed the Miami Dolphins (1-1) 35-0

Thankfully after that the New England Patriots (1-1) easily beat the New York Jets (0-2) 25-6

A boring game after that had the San Francisco 49ers (2-0) beat the Philadelphia Eagles (1-1) (1-1) 17-11

Then the Las Vegas Raiders (2-0) beat the Pittsburgh Steelers (1-1) 26-17

Another game, in an upset the Carolina Panthers (2-0) beat the New Orleans Saints (1-1) 26-7

A little bit after that the Denver Broncos (2-0) beat the Jacksonville Jaguars (0-2) 23-13

The next had the Arizona Cardinals (2-0) wining 34-33 because the Minnesota Vikings (0-2) can't make field goals

Then the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (2-0) easily beat the Atlanta Falcons (0-2) 48-25

Then in a surprising game the Dallas Cowboys (1-1) for the second year in a row made a game winning field goal in week two, against the Los Angeles Chargers (1-1) 20-17

In another exiting game the game was tied between the Tennessee Titans (1-1) and Seattle Seahawks (1-1) 30-30 at the end of regulation but the Titans won in overtime 33-30

A very good game was played after that with the Baltimore Ravens (1-1) beating the Kansas City Chiefs (1-1) 36-30

Then on Monday Night Football surprise surprise the Green Bay Packers (1-1) beat the Detroit Lions (0-2) 35-17

BVR Athletics

The BVR sports have started! Hooray! The other day, BVR played volleyball but sadly lost 😞 But everyone

Chapter 1 Luck

Today is the day I finally pick up a video game.

Hey, my name is Jack, a 12 year old boy who was never really into video games. I didn't really think that they were that good. But after multiple months of peer pressure, I finally asked my mom for an xbox. Guess I lucked out, because she eventually agreed.

We went to a shop named GameStop, which I heard was a game shop. We entered, found the closest xbox, paid, and got out.

When we got back home, I set up the wires and booted it up. Then I set up things like usernames and passwords. It was kinda like when we got our computer for the first time.

The weird thing about it was that when I logged in, the screen turned black for a second, then showed a picture of some sort of a game. I pressed every button on the controller, tried turning off the console, even taking out the plug. Weird, no luck. Is that how consoles are supposed to work?

I thought it was something with the TV, because it was always acting up. I knocked it a little and it made a weird water-like sound. Not expecting anything to happen, I knocked the screen.

Stay tuned for the next chapter next week!

Mist & Moon by Quinn

Thunder was alive. He thought he was dead but he was alive. The river had taken him somewhere and somehow he had come out unscathed. Thunder pushed himself up and winced at the pain in his shoulder. He placed his paw against it, when he put it back down his sleek black fur was stained scarlet with the blood that covered his shoulder. Well, not completely unscathed. The river babbled along, flowing gently against Thunder's hind paws. The sun warmed his fur. This part of the forest was the lushest part of the forest, this is where the pack lived.

His shoulder throbbed with pain as he began to stagger forward. He wasn't safe in the open. He shambled into the trees, scouting for something that could serve as a den for the time being.

He was beginning to feel a bit dizzy. He tripped on a root and lurched forward, slamming into the tough, sun-baked ground.

"I can help you," came a voice out of the trees, "But you need to get up."

Thunder scrambled to his feet, ignoring the pain that shot through his shoulder.

"Who are you?" He snarled, attempting to twist around but stumbling. Thunder fell to the ground again.

"There is no need for hostility, I won't hurt you," she chuckled. "I am a healer, I only wish to help you."

When she stepped into his vision he could see she was not a pack dog, instead of silver fur, her's was white as snow. "I am Mist, this is my trainee, Moon." Another white wolf stepped out, her chin held high, only her large azure eyes betrayed her curiosity. Thunder pushed himself up, the last of his energy starting to drain.

“Fine, heal me then,” he spat. Mist’s pale blue eyes glowed with amusement.

“You have spirit, follow me back to our den.” She turned around and started to pad away. He staggered after her.

Right now the birds sang, right now there were squirrels and rabbits, right now the river ran peacefully, but he knew it wouldn’t last, he knew it was only a matter of time before the fire came here too, bringing everything to ashes.

Movie Review by Brittany

Today I am going to be reviewing the new movie Cruella. Cruella is a remake / part 2 of Cruella Deville. It's hard not to spoil it when you tell the plot, but it's mainly about the background of Cruella Deville and the story behind her. It is about how she is a fashion designer but something happens to make her change her name and personality. I rate it a 1000000/10. It is women empowerment and the BEST MOVIE EVER.

Crystals by Addie

Some people believe that crystals can help you and absorb bad things, this week's crystal can do that too. Hi you guys! It's me Addie again, telling you about some more crystals! If you haven't, you should go read my first one, it was all about Amazonite. But right now you're here for this week's crystal.

This week's crystal is Citrine! Citrine is a crystal known for absorbing negativity. It has a yellow-orange color, but it's very rare to find actual Citrine because many people just heat up amethyst so it looks like citrine. Citrine is a kind of quartz, and it's one of the more popular kinds of quartz. Citrine is named after the french word lemon. It is named that because of its color, yellow-orange, like a lemon.

Thank you for reading this week's crystal update. If you enjoyed it and want more, come back next week to learn about another kind of crystal. Bye!

Day in The Life of NOVA

by Reid (because I can't type)

Hi, I'm NOVA and if you didn't know already I'm a famous: Model, Actress, Singer, Rapper, ScubaDiver, Napper, Biter, Bodyguard, MommyLover, and EVERYTHING else.

My day starts with howling at the top of my lungs at 5 am until mommy comes down to play except, she doesn't want to play so I head upstairs to my Queen sized bed where my servant Reid is keeping watch for paparazzi, so I lay down on the fluffy bed and put my eye mask on and drift to dream about treats. In the morning I woke up to the smell of pancakes. So, I jumped off the bed and went down the stairs of my Queen Mansion to wait under the dropper for my servants to drop food for me to catch.

After that, I go to my bed to film and take photos for Insta and Tik Tok like always. Today we made one of me in all of my modeling outfits and accessories, so tiring. Next I go on my daily walkies where we walk to Starbucks and I get a Pup Cup for free cuz I'm a celebrity. Then we walk home but I'm way too tired to walk so Reid carries me all the way home. After that I went upstairs to guard

The New Cinderella by Katie & Natalie

Starring in the movie we have Camila Cabello as Cinderella, Idina Menzel as Vivian, Minnie Driver as Queen Beatrice, Billy Porter as Fabulous Godmother, Nicholas Galitzine as Prince Robert and so much more.

Cinderella takes place in a little town next to the big palace in a kingdom. In the palace lives a king, and queen, and their kids. Princess Vivian, and Prince Robert. It's a musical so there are a lot of songs! Our favorite personally is "Million To One." The movie is about Cinderella wanting to start her dream career and wanting to marry a man. She falls in love with the prince and can't decide what to do... WATCH THE MOVIE ON AMAZON PRIME TO FIND OUT WHAT HAPPENS!!!

We think that it has a good message for a new version of a kids movie. We love how it has the message of a girl believing in herself that she can start her own business and not caring about her gender and pursuing her goal. While of course battling her rude stepmom and rude stepsisters. In the beginning the prince wants to find a wife and his parents don't understand he wants to wait for the right girl. We just love how it has women empowerment and being able to choose their own path for their own life.

In conclusion you should go watch the new Cinderella on Amazon Prime. Thank you for reading our opinion on the new Cinderella Movie.

Caves, Part 1 by Jaz

"Cmon Annie you're being too slow," said a tall girl wearing purple shoes. Her name was Jaz and little did she know what was about to happen. Her and her best friend Annie were out for a picnic and decided to go explore. They ran around chasing each other with the autumn breeze behind them. Then they found a cave.

"What is this place"

"I don't know. It looks like some sort of cave.."

"Well let's go in!" Jaz says with an odd look in her eyes.

"Are you crazy?!?! It could be dangerous!"

Jaz was feeling some sort of connection, almost being drawn to it. She had wondered if Annie felt this too.

"Pease Annie, oh please! I need to see what's inside"

"Fine but we have to be careful. In and out."

They went into the glowing cave to find...
